Chapter 275: The Evolution of the Divine Jewel

---

1. A New Organ of Divine Might

Sung Jin-Woo’s continuous evolution gave birth to a new organ within his body: the Divine Jewel, also known as the Divine Crystal.

Location:

It resided deep within his chest, encased within layers of divine energy, connected to his nervous system, spinal cord, and brain.

Purpose:

The Divine Jewel served as an extra reserve of divine power, holding unimaginable energy for the execution of creation, destruction, manipulation of light and darkness, soul crafting, and laws of existence.

2. The Tremendous Power of the Jewel

The small size of the Divine Jewel was deceptive, as it housed power that could rival or even surpass the most potent divine sources in the multiverse.

Enhanced Aura:

The Jewel emitted an extra divine aura, making Sung Jin-Woo’s presence even more overwhelming to all beings.

His aura became a mixture of oppressive and protective energy, capable of inspiring absolute reverence or dread.

Improved Divine Activities:

Creation: The Jewel allowed Sung Jin-Woo to create souls, worlds, and even new laws of existence with unparalleled precision and ease.

Destruction: He could annihilate entities, concepts, or entire realms with a mere thought.

3. The Birth of New Abilities

The Divine Jewel introduced two groundbreaking abilities to Sung Jin-Woo’s repertoire:

Breath of Death:

With a single breath, Sung Jin-Woo could instantly kill any being or entity.

This ability transcended physical, spiritual, and conceptual barriers, ensuring nothing could escape its reach.

Breath of Life:

Conversely, he could use his breath to revive or resurrect anyone or anything from death, restoring them to life with perfection.

This ability could even reverse the erasure of entities, bringing them back into existence with their memories intact.

4. The Divine Jewel and Clones

Despite this monumental evolution, Sung Jin-Woo chose not to reduce the power of his clones further.

Reason for Stability:

The clones already operated at 0.0000000000000001% of his power, equating to $S^{999999999999}$-Rank strength.

Any further reduction would make the fractional value immeasurable.

Unchanged Clone Power:

Each clone retained their capacity for devastating strength, maintaining their position as some of the most powerful entities in existence.

---

5. The Divine Jewel’s Influence on Sung Jin-Woo

The creation of the Divine Jewel marked another ascension in Sung Jin-Woo’s evolution:

Absolute Authority:

With the Jewel, his authority over creation and destruction reached absolute levels.

He became capable of reshaping the multiverse with mere whims.

Unmatched Supremacy:

No entity, even among the Twelve Divine Beings, could rival the scope of Sung Jin-Woo’s power after this evolution.

---

6. Implications for the Multiverse

The presence of the Divine Jewel reshaped Sung Jin-Woo’s role in the multiverse:

The Creator and Destroyer:

He became the ultimate balance, holding the power to both give life and take it away effortlessly.

The Unseen King:

While his power grew beyond measure, his humility and restraint remained. Sung Jin-Woo continued to act from the shadows, using his power only when necessary.

Conclusion

The Divine Jewel’s creation signified yet another milestone in Sung Jin-Woo’s godhood. With it, he cemented his position as the most evolved and transcendent being in existence, balancing omnipotence with unparalleled humility and control. His clones and armies became extensions of this boundless power, ensuring his influence reached every corner of the multiverse.
